

VIASAT NATURE PRESENTS

GRANDPA: Azra, Azra, Time to wake up. Hi there doll face. You slept through the alarm. You doing okay? Middle of the night, you woke me up and told me you were feeling a little stiff. Why are you looking to me like that.

AZRA: I don't know. Things just seem different. You seem different.

GRANDPA: Different? What do you mean different?

AZRA: Look at your face. Look at my arms!

GRANDPA: What are you talking about?

AZRA: Oh, my God! I think we're dolls! We're in the middle of a family crisis. I need everyone to pull together.

WOMAN: What is it, Mom?

GIRL: What's the big deal?

LARA: Honey, I really think you're overreacting here.

AZRA: Overreacting?! We're dolls! All of us!

KAIBA: Azra, honestly, everything is as it's always been. I have no idea what you're talking about.

AZRA: I'm talking about the fact. That you're six inches tall and your face is made of plastic! I'm talking about the fact. That if I stripped off all those doll clothes you're wearing. I'd find a smooth little nub. Where your boy parts are supposed to be.

LARA: Mom, What's wrong with Mom?

WOMAN: She's just a little...

AZRA: Nothing! What is wrong with all of you?! You act like this is normal. We're human beings! We always have been! We don't live in a dollhouse!

WOMAN: Shh! Mommy, you better be quiet. If you make too much noise, He'll hear you.

AZRA: What do you mean? Who'll hear me? Who's "he"?

GIRL: You know who "he" is.
